3 (a) It is widely acknowledged that the ability to read is essential
4 to the acquisition of a good education and to increase the prospects 5 of a productive life and that general literacy among our people is 6 essential to our reputation in the community of nations.

7 (b) In the acknowledgement of this truth, the Governor and the 8 Legislature in recent years have invested heavily to ensure that all 9 California's children acquire excellent reading skills and have 10 engaged with students in reading programs and undertaken other 11 literacy programs and activities to ensure that the love and 12 enjoyment of books is a significant component of the education of 13 every child.

14 (c) The arts generally have been shown to have a positive
15 impact on the ability of our children to learn, to create greater 16 interest in academic programs, and to enrich and enliven the great 17 cultural heritage of California.

18 (d) California's poets have long been acknowledged as among 19 the most prestigious in the nation, and include numerous Nobel 20 Prize, Pulitzer Prize, National Book Award, and other significant 21 award recipients, and at least three United States' Poets Laureate.
22 California's poets also come from every ethnic, religious, and 23 geographic region of the state, and have often provided a great 24 source of inspiration to their communities, students and other
25 young people, and the people of California generally.

26 (e) The California Poets in the Schools program, in which 27 professional poets work with children in Kindergarten through 28 12th grade in almost every county in the state, has created great 29 interest in the poetic arts among California's children and youth.
30 This interest is evidenced by the large number of reading series, 31 chapbook publications, poetry-based websites, which have the 32 second largest number of ~~hits~~ "hits" of all website types, and 33 other poetic activities.

1 (f) The United States, many states, and many cities have
